Professional Summary

Frontend Developer specializing in building and customizing modern web applications. I began my professional journey with Magento 2 development in 2020, later expanding into Magento 1 and WordPress-based solutions. Since 2024, I have been working with React, Next.js, and TypeScript to develop scalable, component-driven applications.

I focus on transforming UI designs into responsive, high-performance interfaces, developing custom modules and integrations, and building maintainable full-stack solutions using modern tools such as Prisma and server-side rendering frameworks. I am committed to writing clean, scalable code and continuously refining my expertise within the JavaScript ecosystem.
